

ALLORAH'S INSIGHTS

March 8, 2015

God is not a Guest...

Do you remember the Joan Osborne song "What if God was One of Us"? Recently Guidance has been having me ask my clients that question in a different form. "What if God was a guest in your home?" If you were God's tour guide, what kind of experience would you want God to have here on earth? And, are you giving God that experience? If not, why not?

Do you understand that God is living within you, as you? The experience you are having, IS also the experience you are giving God. Having free will means that we are actively and continually creating our lives by our choices. The conscious and unconscious choices we make absolutely influence the experiences and outcomes we have in our life. Unfortunately, we humans have been indoctrinating ourselves in fear for millions of years which has resulted in causing us to create from lies and fear rather than from truth and love.

When we understand and remember that we are "The Divine" in physical form, we then choose a richer more fulfilling life filled with blessings, while grace smoothes out the path ahead of us. Seeing ourselves as Holy allows us to choose from a perspective of faith and love. We are each the temple and expression of the "own personal God" that resides within. This Spring holiday season is a time to revive our inner divinity from a long winter's slumber.

I read a quote that says "What we are is God's gift to us. What we become is our gift to God." So I'm asking you what changes can you make each day to be a better host to the God dwelling within you?

Namaste,
Allorah
